WANTS AUGUST REYOT'S WILL.

Mrs. De Forrest, However, Has No Proof of Its Existence.

Suit was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday by Julia de Forrest against Mrs. Louis Blinde and the Missouri Safe Deposit Company, seeking to get possession of the will of August Reyot. The action is in the nature of a replevin, but the plaintiff, according to her attorney, has no title to the will, does not know the whereabouts of the will or if such a will exists.

Kurt von Ryppen, the plaintiff's attorney, filed a motion with the court for an order of court to examine a box in the Missouri Safe Deposit vaults to see if it contains a will. The motion alleges that the plaintiff was married to August Reyot, and that he told her in 1881 that he had made a will leaving her a portion of his property and so. The property is now held by the wife, Mrs. Blinde, she avers, that he had given her will to Louis Blinde, a Justice of the Peace of St. Clair County, Ill., for safe keeping. Reyot died in May, 1888, and Blinde died in another place. Mrs. Reyot lives in East St. Louis, where Reyot and Blinde also lived. In the fall of 1888 plaintiff bequeathed Reyot's property to his widow, and Blinde bequeathed the will to her. But did not Reyot's property passed to his widow, who would have been found it is stated.

The matter is before the Hon. George Flitcraft, who took it under advisement.

Nervous Prostration.

from whatever cause—overwork, dissipation, insomnia, care, worry—tends directly to permanent invalidism or the insane hospital. It is the bane of the present age and of the American people. In the mad pursuit of money, men forget health, happiness, everything but business and the accumulation of wealth, which, if secured, becomes valueless, because they have no health with which to enjoy it. The happy possessor of a healthy body never feels he has a body because he feels no pain, and with systematic, reasonable care, to business, invariable rest and recreation hours, plain, nourishing diet, almost anyone can be well. There are times, however, when there is an unavoidable strain. Use a few doses of
